AWARD OF EXCELLENCE 2026

ABOUT OUR WINE PROGRAM:

Within the ever changing world of wines, there are those great winemakers who hold onto historical techniques and those who implement innovation. As consumer styles & tastes alter through the generations, as winemakers face year to year viticultural challenges, & as global and local markets ebb & flow, there is one simple underlying question that supersedes all others: is the wine good?

For us, wine is good if it strengthens, develops, or advances connections on a human level. A good wine should bring people together. Whether it strengthens bonds between two friends over a quaffable porch pounder; develops heady conversations about terroir & vintage variation over a rare riserva; or advances the sensual experience of food & wine pairings during a romantic evening out, the wine is shared. So sit back, relax, and reconnect as you enter the next adventure into a bottle of wine.

With gratitude,
Russell Hewey, Wine Director
Certified Sommelier CMS-A, WSET-III

HOW TO PAIR WINE W/ FOOD:

The secret: there is no right or wrong way to pair food and wine. If you enjoy the combination, then it is the perfect pairing for you. There are some guidelines, however, which might help when choosing:

What grows together, goes together.
If your dish is from Tuscany, then a Tuscan wine should complement your meal.
Typically, the regional & cultural styles of food & wine develop together to be enjoyed together.

The weight of the food should match the wine.
A richer dish has the potential to stand up to a richer & more complex wine.
Vice versa, a lighter dish usually works best with a lighter styled wine.
